Forecast For Southwest England
Issued by Met Office Exeter
at 0400 on Monday 15 Mar 2021

++ Valid for broadcast between 0600 and 1800

Headline:
A dry start, turning to light rain for some.

Today:
Today starting dry with sunny spells, before increasing cloud brings the chance of outbreaks of light rain, particularly in the west of the region. Less windy than of late. Maximum temperature 12 deg C (54 deg F).

Tonight:
Evening and overnight remaining rather cloudy with some patchy light rain likely to head eastwards across the region. Becoming mainly dry before dawn, though remaining cloudy. Minimum temperature 8 deg C (46 deg F).

Tuesday:
Early morning bright spells followed by building cloud and some patchy rain, particularly in the west. Drying out and brightening up again later to leave a clear night for many. Maximum temperature 14 deg C (57 deg F).

Outlook for Wednesday to Friday:
A dry and fine day on Wednesday and early Thursday before patchy light rain Thursday afternoon. Chance of showers late Thursday, particularly in the east. Friday fine and dry again.

(C) Crown Copyright 2021. Published by the Met Office.